An international consortium dedicated to male contraception (International Consortium for Male Contraception = ICMC) was established September 13, 2013 .

Please find here the email address : contact@icmc-male-contraception.com

It is a network dedicated to all the medical and socio-cultural aspects of male contraception: current and future, hormonal and non-hormonal, medical and surgical. It is open to all those interested.

The aim is to create an international network focusing on male contraception, which has been sidelined until now in the modern contraceptive revolution, and then to actively promote this type of contraception.

ICMC would be very happy to welcome your colleagues and friends motivated by male contraception as members of this network.

The first action of the ICMC was the dissemination of information related to:

The first World Day of vasectomy (18 October 2013).

Future actions of the ICMC are in your hands.

ICMC currently (10 April) has 55 founding members coming from 31 countries.

Our goal now is to expand our international network so that experts in male contraception and all those interested by this birth control method, are brought together. I'm confident of our success.

Members of the ICMC will speak (write) either English or French. However, important information will be translated into both languages.

The first 55 ICMC members are the ICMC founding members.

So, I can announce that the list of the ICMC founding members is closed today, 10 April 2014.

Thank you for your active participation. ICMC relies on you.

Hoping to hear from you soon.

Dr. David SERFATY

Coordinator of the ICMC

President of the Francophone Society of Contraception

Honorary President of the European Society of Contraception
